ALKALINE WATER IONIZER

Alkaline water ionizer is an instrument which regulates the pH of drinking water by ionization. It converts acidic water into alkaline and makes it healthier to drink.

It has two electrodes: anode and cathode. By passing electricity through these electrodes, the negative and positive ions can be separated. The process is called electrolysis. It separates normal water into highly acidic and alkaline water. Acidic water is dumped and alkaline water is used for drinking.

BENEFITS :

- Alkaline water neutralizes the acidity of the overall body thus decreasing acid reflux in many people.
- It also has colon-cleansing functionalities (water with 10.5+ pH).
- It boosts our immune system.
- Its detoxifying properties help maintain skin health.
- Regular use of alkaline water also decreases blood pressure and regulates diabetes.
- Alkaline water has anti-aging properties because of potent antioxidants.
- It has ultra-hydrating properties so it is useful for people who work out on a daily basis.
- In some cases it aids in weight loss.
- It improves the metabolism of our body.
